Reining

Reining, sometimes called "cowboy dressage," is a judged event designed to show the athletic ability of a western-type horse in a show arena. Reining may be performed by any horse, but the American Quarter Horse dominates the field.